General Principles of Bail and Pretrial Release

1. The purpose of this bail schedule is to fix an amount upon which a person who is arrested without a warrant may be released from custody prior to appearance in court. Penal Code Section 1269b requires the Superior Court Judges of every county to prepare, adopt and annually revise a uniform schedule of bail for all felony and misdemeanor offenses. Section 1269b instructs the judges to consider the seriousness of the offense in adopting the bail schedule. An individual arrested and booked into the Stanislaus County jail may be released prior to their initial court appearance in one of two ways: the deputies at the jail may release certain eligible individuals on their promise to appear in court on a future court date, or a judicial officer may release an individual on their own recognizance pursuant to an order to appear at a scheduled court date. Penal Code Section 1270.1 requires a court hearing before anyone arrested for certain offenses can be released on (a) his or her own recognizance, or (b) on bail in an amount that varies from the established county bail schedule. Individuals arrested for the following charges are ineligible for pre-court appearance release:

    - A "serious felony" as defined in Penal Code section 1192.7, except for first degree burglary.
    - A "violent felony" as defined in Penal Code section 667.5(c), except for first degree burglary.
    - Penal Code section 136.1(c) (preventing or dissuading a witness) if a felony.
    - Penal Code section 243(e)1 (intimate partner battery).
    - Penal Code section 273.5 (intimate partner battery causing traumatic condition)
    - Penal Code section 422 (criminal threats) if a felony.
    - Penal Code section 273.6 (violation of a domestic violence protective order) if the detained person made threats to kill or harm, has engaged in violence against, or has gone to the residence or workplace of the protected party.

2. After a defendant's first appearance in court, the amount of bail or whether to release someone on their own recognizance will lie in the sound discretion of the Court. If the Court does set bail, it may be greater or less than the amount set forth in the bail schedule, subject to the provisions of Penal Code section 1275. In setting bail, the judge is required under section 1275 to consider the protection of the public, the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal history of the defendant, and the probability of his or her appearing at a future court hearing. Public Safety is the primary consideration in setting bail.

3. Persons not entitled to release on bail are those charged with the following crimes: capital offenses (murder with special circumstances) and certain violent felony offenses "when facts are evident or the presumption great," and the Court finds by clear and convincing evidence that there is a substantial likelihood the person's release would result in either great bodily harm to others, or the person has made a threat to do great bodily harm to another, and there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released. (Article 12, California Constitution; Penal Code section 1270.5)

4. The California Supreme Court has ruled that detention in jail before trial should be limited to those cases where there is clear and convincing evidence that an individual defendant is either a flight risk or poses a danger to public safety. (In re Kenneth Humphrey (2021) 11 Cal. 5th 135). These risk factors must be evaluated by the reviewing court. All defendants eligible for bail should be considered for own-recognizance release unless the Court makes an individualized determination that the defendant is either a flight risk or poses a danger to public safety. The Court should further consider conditions of release that minimize such risks. Pre-trial detention is only permissible if there are no less-restrictive conditions of release that will satisfy the state's interest in protecting the public and ensuring the defendant's appearance in court. If the Court is going to require the posting of monetary bail, it must consider the defendant's ability to pay the stated bail amount and may not effectively detain the defendant solely because the arrestee lacked the resources to post bail.

Stanislaus County Felony Bail Schedule
General Information

1. Pursuant to the requirements of Penal Code Section 1269b, this felony bail schedule is adopted by the Superior Court of Stanislaus County and is to be utilized in setting bail for the release of persons arrested on felony charges, without warrant, for the alleged commission of any bailable offense.

2. Bail shall be set according to the bail schedule at the time of booking by the booking officer, at the time of arraignment in Superior Court, and on all arrest warrants, unless a magistrate in his or her discretion, determines a different amount of bail is appropriate or grants a request for release on own recognizance or a request to increase or lower bail pursuant to Penal Code Section 1269c.

3. This schedule shall supersede all prior felony bail schedules in Stanislaus County and shall become effective October 1, 2023. This bail schedule will be revised annually in accordance with Penal Code Section 1269b(c), unless it is re-adopted without revision.

4. The jailer and clerks of the Superior Court are hereby authorized to accept bail for release of persons held in custody on felony charges in the amount of bail as set forth in accordance with this schedule. Jailers, booking officers, and clerks should receive periodic training on the use of the bail schedule. Training will be provided by a designated person from the Superior Court Clerk's Office.

5. Pursuant to Penal Code Section 1269c, if a peace officer has reasonable cause to believe that the amount of bail set forth in the schedule of bail for that offense is insufficient to assure defendant's appearance, the peace officer shall prepare a declaration in writing, under penalty of perjury, setting forth the facts and circumstances in support of the peace officer's belief and file it with a magistrate. Similarly, the arrested person, either personally or through his/her attorney, friend, or member of his/her family, may make application to a magistrate for release on bail lower than that provided in the schedule of bail or on his/her own recognizance within eight (8) hours after booking. If no change in bail is approved by the magistrate within twelve (12) hours after booking, bail shall be set according to the bail schedule.

6. Bail for release from custody may be given in cash or by a properly executed property bond approved by the Court after a hearing or by a surety bond executed by a certified surety insurer.

Stanislaus County Felony Bail Schedule

Rules of Application

Rule #1 If the arrest is for a single offense only, bail shall be set according to the general felony bail schedule for that offense. (See Schedules B and C for addition of enhancement and special allegation bail increments).

Example: Person arrested for assault with deadly weapon, (245(a)(1) PC). Bail should be set in the amount of $50,000. If great bodily injury is inflicted (12022.7(a) PC), $50,000 bail should be added per Schedule B. Total bail = $100,000.

Rule #2 If the arrest is for multiple offenses, bail shall be set according to the General Felony Bail Schedule for all offenses provided that the felonies were not PC 654 to each other. (In general, PC 654 applies to non-violent crimes from a single occasion, or violent crimes against a single victim at a single time.) (See Schedules B and C for addition of enhancement and special allegation bail increments). For separate arrests by separate agencies, bail shall be set at the total amount for each agency arrest.

Example: Person arrested for [PC 459(2) and PC 496.1, both occurring on Day 1 and based on same facts] and [PC 459(2), PC 496.1, both occurring on Day 2] Total bail = $10,000 + 10,000 = $20,000.

Rule #3 If the arrest is for a Penal Code, Health and Safety Code, or Vehicle Code violation that is not listed in the General Felony Bail Schedule, bail shall be set as set forth in Schedule A. (Schedules B and C should also be consulted for the addition of enhancement and special allegation bail increments.)

Rule #4 For any felony violation of any code other than the Penal Code, Health and Safety Code, and Vehicle Code, bail shall be set as follows:

- Maximum sentence = 3 years: Set bail at $20,000.
- Maximum sentence > 3 years: Set bail according to Schedule A.

Rule #5 Bail may be increased for enhancements and extraordinary circumstances per Schedule B, by the booking officer, at the time of booking, if the arresting officer and/or the accused's criminal history (rap sheet) provide sufficient, reliable information to the booking officer to justify the increased bail. Some of the more common offense-specific enhancements contained in Schedule B are also embedded in the general bail schedule and should not be applied twice.

Bail increases per Schedule C may not be added by the booking officer. Once charges are filed by complaint or information, bail for enhancements, extraordinary circumstances, and special allegations per Schedules B and C may be added by the judges of the Superior Court.

Rule #6 PC section 182 (conspiracy) and PC section 664 (attempt) shall have a bail schedule amount equal to the substantive offense that is the subject of the conspiracy or attempt, unless the General Felony Bail Schedule indicates otherwise. (e.g., attempted murder, robbery, or arson, attempted murder, attempted arson).

Rule #7 Violation of Felony Probation (PC§1203.2/1203.3) arrest without a warrant shall have bail set at $100,500. Violation of Mandatory Supervision (PC §1170(h)(5)), Post release Community Supervision (PC §3450 et seq.), or Parole (PC § 3000 et seq.) shall have bail set at "No Bail".

Rule #8 If the arrest without a warrant is for both felony and misdemeanor offenses, bail shall be set for the felony offense(s) ONLY unless a charge of 23152(a) or (b) is added. If so, the additional bail for 23152(a) or 23152(b) shall be added to the felony bail amount. No additional bail should be set for other misdemeanor offense(s) unless approved by a magistrate, or the misdemeanor arrest was based upon a warrant for which bail was previously set.

Rule #9 If defendant is charged with a felony and has one prior serious or violent felony alleged pursuant to PC§667(d), bail shall be double of that specified for the underlying charge in this bail schedule.

Rule #10 With the exception of murder, all felony offenses having a possible sentence of a number of years to life shall have bail set at $250,000, unless a different bail amount is specifically listed. For murder, see Schedule A.

Rule #11 If a defendant is charged with an otherwise bailable felony and has two or more prior serious or violent felonies alleged pursuant to PC§ 667(d), at arraignment bail shall be set at $250,000, regardless of the charged felony. At a subsequent court hearing, and upon a request for bail review, the judge shall determine whether the defendant qualifies for a life sentence under Penal Code sections 667 and 1170.12, and may adjust bail according to these rules.

Rule #12 If a defendant fails to appear as ordered by the Court or upon a promise to appear, $500 shall be added by the Court to whatever bail is set as reasonably necessary. The Court shall add $550 to the second and $555 to the third failures to appear.

Rule #13 Pursuant to Penal Code Section 1270.1, the prosecuting attorney and defense attorney shall be given a two-court-day written notice and an opportunity to be heard in open court before any person who is arrested for any of the following crimes may be released on bail in an amount that is EITHER MORE OR LESS than the amount contained in the schedule of bail for the offense, or may be released on his or her own recognizance:

- A "serious felony" as defined in Penal Code section 1192.7, except for first degree burglary.
- A "violent felony" as defined in Penal Code section 667.5(c), except for first degree burglary.

- Penal Code section 136.1(c) (preventing or dissuading a witness) if a felony.
- Penal Code section 243(e)1 (intimate partner battery).
- Penal Code section 273.5 (intimate partner battery causing traumatic condition)
- Penal Code section 273.6 (violation of a domestic violence protective order) if the detained person made threats to kill or harm, has engaged in violence against, or has gone to the residence or workplace of the protected party.

Rule #14 When a defendant is returned the State of California by extradition, his or her bail shall be set in the amount of the warrant plus $100,000. Forty-eight (48) hours notice is required to deviate from this rule. See PC §1554.3

Rule #15 The magistrate may set bail at an amount more or less than listed in this schedule based on evidence of past court appearances of the detained person, the maximum potential sentence that could be imposed, and the danger that may be posed to other persons if the detained person is released. (PC §1270.1)

In making the determination whether to release the detained person on bail or on their own recognizance, the Court shall consider the potential danger to other persons, including threats that have been made by the detained person and any past acts of violence. The Court shall also consider any evidence offered by the detained person regarding the detained person's ties to the community and ability to post bond, alternatives monetary bail, and any other individualized criteria as set forth by law.
